Nakhon Thai

Nakhon Thai is a family run establishment, owned and operated by Thai Chef Tan (Suphatra) Masong and her husband, Aaron Orlicky.

The couple met in Thailand in 2000 while Aaron was teaching scuba diving on Phuket Island. Tan began her cooking career at a small Thai take-out in Melbourne, Australia in 2003. This is where she developed her love of cooking Thai food and her passion for people. After 2003, Tan and Aaron started their family (Jessica) in Tan's home province of Nakhon Si Thammarat. This is where the restaurant name "Nakhon Thai" stems from. Nakhon translates to "City".

Aaron and Tan moved their family to Ottawa in late 2006. Tan worked in various Thai restaurants and gained valuable experience. IN April of 2009, Tan and Aaron opened their first Nakhon Thai restaurant in Ottawa's Little Italy (now closed). Just when things couldn't be busier our son Jaden was born in 2010. He's been in the business from day one. In 2011 a chance to open a second restaurant presented itself and Tan and Aaron embrace the opportunity to move into the supportive community of Kemptville.

In 2014 Aaron and Tan moved to Brockville and after extensive renovations opened another restaurant in a heritage building at 28 King St. West.

All sauces, curries, appetizers, soups and main meals are all created from scratch to ensure the freshest flavours possible.

Prices and hours are subject to change without notice.
